Losing Mother Twice: Facing the Alzheimer's Journey - rsvp to *07

Performing Arts Center

"There is no 'You Are Here' on the Alzheimer's progression chart," says Regina Olson, who, along with her sister, Deborah Harwood, wrote a book of the same name describing their family's experience as their mother struggled with Alzheimer's disease. Regina and Deborah know how incredibly difficult it is to watch a loved one lose herself. Only in looking back could the sisters understand the course of the disease. By studying the growing body of Alzheimer's research, they were able to make sense of why their mother refused to bathe, what her changing behaviors signaled about her condition, and why she could remember the words to her favorite old hymns but could not remember their names.

The sisters discuss the disease by placing it within the context of their mother's life — one person among millions afflicted by the common tragedy of Alzheimer's disease. After reading their book, one Garlands member purchased ten copies to give out. Could their story be yours too?

Music in the Evening "Kiss Me, Kate" DVD with Bruce Smith -rsvp *07

Monday, July 8, and Tuesday, July 16, 7:00-9:00 pm, Surround Sound Theater

This production of Cole Porter's fantastic musical was staged at the sold-out Royal Albert Hall in London in 2014 and broadcast live in high definition color on TV stations throughout Europe. It features an outstanding cast (among them: Ben Davis, Alexandra Sieber, Louise Dearman, and Tony Yazbeck) as well as a spectacular 70-piece orchestra conducted by John Wilson.

The story involves the production of a musical version of William Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew and the conflict on and off-stage between the show's director, producer, and star, and his leading lady/ex-wife. Gangsters and a secondary romance round out the musical's premise. Kiss Me, Kate ran for more than 1,000 performances on Broadway, winning a Tony Award. Memorable songs include "Another Op'nin', Another Show," "Wunderbar," "So In Love," "Too Darn Hot," and, "Brush Up Your Shakespeare." We will seat those with reservations first and ask walk-ins to wait until just before the start.

Chicago Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow, with Jerome O'Connor, Part II -rsvp *07

Friday, July 5, 10:00 am-12:00 pm, Burnham

This month's topic, "Cheat You Fair – Where the Blues and Bargaining Began," includes brief biographies of the push-cart peddlers such as Morris B. Sachs and the Goldblatt Brothers, who began in the Maxwell Street area. Rare images accompany the discussion of the birth of the Chicago blues that began on Maxwell Street.

One of a mere 41 certified Chicago Tour Guides, Jerome is uniquely positioned to deliver our city to us in a way only a few can. Last year he brought us The Hidden Places of World War II. His 355-page hardcover of the same name (50 years in the making) has recently been premired by Barnes & Noble. This lecture is a Don't Miss.

Harper College: Chicago's Golden Age of Department Stores -rsvp *07

Wednesday, July 24, 10:00-11:00 am, Burnham Room, Instructor: Leslie Goddard

For decades, Chicago was home to some of the nation's grandest department stores. Clustered mostly along a mile-long stretch of State Street, stores like Marshall Field's, Carson, Pirie, Scott, Sears, Wieboldt's and Goldblatt's set new standards for retail innovation, customer services, and visual display. Generations of Chicagoans trekked to these stores for holiday shopping, celebrations, and fun. This fun nostalgic lecture uses photographs and memorabilia to revisit Chicago's fabulous retail emporiums and explore their rise and fall. Leslie Goddard earned her Ph.D. in US History and Women's Studies from Northwestern University. She is a former museum director and the author of the book Remembering Marshall Field's.

The Sun!

A new study published by the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) discovered that it only takes one day of sunscreen application for blood levels of four commonly used sunscreen chemicals to rise high enough to trigger an FDA safety investigation. One such chemical is oxybenzone which is a known hormone disruptor. Your skin is your body’s largest organ, and what you put on your skin often ends up in your body.

Play it safe this summer by opting for mineral-based sunscreens containing safer ingredients like zinc oxide. Also, consume a diet rich in plants. Cook with a variety of herbs, and consume extra fruits, vegetables and healthy oils (olive, coconut, ghee) which have been shown to have ultraviolet radiation protection. Dr. Sandra can provide you with additional personal information at *15.
